

To put a stop to the ideologically-driven nonsense which is being foisted upon us by an elite minority, we, the silent majority need to elect people who hold our common-sense views to speak up for us in Holyrood.

Democracy is at stake. We will defend the right of those who disagree with us to be heard and their views to be considered, but we demand that very same right.

We, the Scottish Family Party will stand up to those that want to rebrand Scotland as a thought-police state. We will do this in Holyrood when you elect us to represent you, the silent majority.

Remember your second vote. Your first vote is for your constituency MSP who gets to Holyrood by receiving the highest number of votes under the 'first-past-the-post' system.

However, you also have a second vote. Seven other MSPs represent your region, known as 'list MSPs'. They are elected under a system of proportional representation which allows new, up-and-coming parties to be elected.

So strike a blow for freedom - in the authentic voice of Scotland. Vote for a Scottish Family Party candidate on the regional list, and get the voice of common sense, representing traditional family-values, heard in Holyrood.

From the National Council of the Scottish Family Party.

"FREEDOM!"

Everybody who saw the film will remember the cry of William Wallace in 'Braveheart'. It struck a chord with us because freedom has been such a core value to the people of Scotland throughout the centuries. Now, however, many of us are asking: whatever happened to our freedom to speak our mind in our own country?

Up until recently, Scots have had the right to speak openly and freely about anything and everything, and we often have! Civilised disagreement, even heated argument, has been part of our culture and history for many generations. That long and decent tradition is now under attack. Free speech is actually subject to police control. In our own country. In our own time.

You can't criticise, you can't even raise questions about important issues any longer. Abortion, gay marriage, transgender issues, divorce rates, feminism, Covid lockdown, sex education, Black Lives Matter, LGBT adoption: not a word of disagreement can be spoken without placing yourself in danger. Only one opinion is allowed on all these topics and, on some subjects, this requirement is even written into law with a threat of police enforcement. The result of this intolerance is a Scotland that increasingly resembles the authoritarian states of the old Soviet empire. We keep our mouths shut in public or at work and only feel safe expressing ourselves with likeminded people. But 'Political Correctness' has never been in the Scottish nature. The essential Scottish values have always been:-

Support the family; respect the elderly; respect teachers; teach responsibility; children need a father and mother; life is sacred; western culture, founded on Christian principles, is not evil and is nothing to be ashamed of.

While the SNP is busy promoting pornography in schools, we want to encourage strong families by promoting marriage. A whole host of social problems could be alleviated by this simple policy, yet the other parties won't even consider it.

Only we, the Scottish Family Party, are standing up against this slide to authoritarianism and we are proud to do so.

We are unapologetically pro-family and pro-traditional western values.

Like most people, we are not homophobic, we are not transphobic, not racist and not sexist. We are not hidebound by the political straitjacket of Left and Right. We respect all people based on their individual character. As far as we are concerned, every human is one of 'Jock Tamson's bairns', to use that wonderful old phrase. Our Party welcomes everybody who shares our traditional values and who can see that Scotland is rapidly losing them.
